

National Small Grains Germplasm Research Facility
Advanced Genetics Laboratory

Dedication Tours, Science Fair & Lunch
August 17, 2006

Senator Crapo and other visitors tour the new facility.

Dr. Eric Jackson discusses research results from the cereal pathology laboratory with Senator Crapo and other visitors.

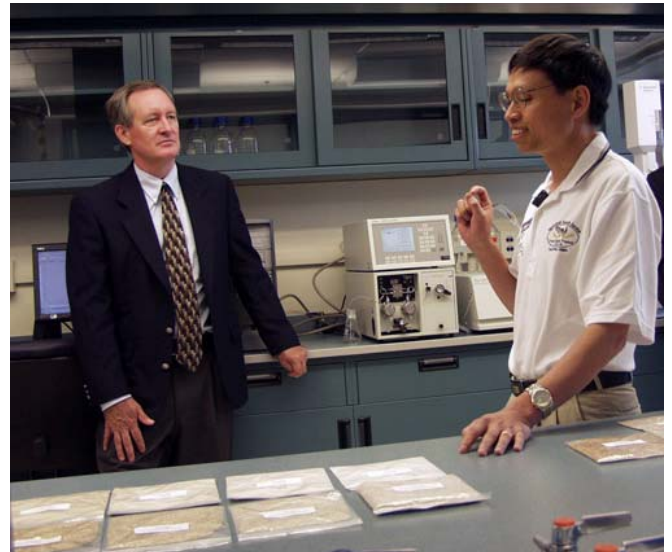

Dr. Rich Novy presents results from the potato molecular genetics laboratory.

Dr. Gongshe Hu explains the function of the molecular genetics laboratory to Dr. Pierson, Senator Crapo, Mr. Lowel Randel, and Mr. Don Dixon.

Dr. Kevin Peterson discusses results from the Cereal Chemistry Genetics laboratory with visitors.

Dr. Keshun Liu explains the function of the grain chemistry laboratory to Senator Crapo.

Dr. Bob Zemetra explains the intricacies of wheat genetics to visitors.

Poster presentations by Aberdeen Grade School and Aberdeen Middle School science fair winners.

Student winners of the science fair sponsored by ARS-Aberdeen with Senator Mike Crapo and other ARS and University dignitaries. Students were from the Aberdeen Grade School and Aberdeen Middle school. Front Row (left to right), Dr. Mike Bonman, Dr. Dwayne Buxton, Cassie Escujuri, Breanna Duffin, Hazel Pratt, Victoria Hernandez, Emma Satterfield, Travis Klassen, Clark Leland. Back Row (left to right), Dr. John Hammel, Dr. Kay Simmons, Dr. Merle Pierson, Braden Corbridge, Ben Hall, Senator Mike Crapo, Mallory Wheeler, Jeremy Schroeder, Dr. Toni Betschart.

Display from the Idaho Barley Commission provided by Ms. Kelly Olson, Administrator.

ARS-Aberdeen staff Darren Hall, Charlene Miller, and Penny Tubbs serve French fries from three new potato varieties to visitors.

Visitors enjoying lunch on the campus of the Aberdeen Research and Extension Center after the dedication ceremony.

Visitors enjoying lunch on the campus of the Aberdeen Research and Extension Center after the dedication ceremony.