Trade names are used in this report solely for the purpose of providing specific information. Mention of a trade name does not constitute a guarantee or warranty of the products by the U.S. Department of Agriculture or an endorsement of the Department over other products not mentioned.

Although data collection in the Nationwide Food Consumption Survey 1977-78 was completed in March 1978, this is the only source of national information on household consumption of food, by quantity and money value, since the last survey was conducted in 1965-66. The results are still valid and may be used in coming years in the evaluation of many issues including food consumption and nutrition education.

Issued September 1982

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Nationwide Food Consumption Survey 1977-78 was conducted by the Consumer Nutrition Center, Human Nutrition Information Service (formerly Human Nutrition, Science and Education Administration), U.S. Department of Agriculture. The sample was designed and the data were collected and processed by National Analysts, Inc., under contract with the Center. The data for this publication were tabulated by the Federal Prison Industries, U.S. Department of Justice, also under contract with the Center.

Work on the survey and publication was the concern of many individuals in the Consumer Nutrition Center. Robert B. Reese had overall responsibility for planning and supervising the survey. Mary Y. Hama supervised a team composed of Dorothy A. Baker, Helen C. Crutchfield, Kim M. Hatfield, Linda W. Ingwersen, and Constance D. Ward that developed plans for coding and tabulating the collected household food consumption data, analyzed findings, and wrote this report. Bruce C. Gray, Jan L. Janiczek, and Mills B. Weinstein monitored the data processing and tabulation performed by the contractor. Betty B. Peterkin, Frank N. Hepburn, and the Nutrient Data Research Group provided assistance at different phases of the survey planning and analysis. The following persons, now retired, contributed in the earlier phases of the work leading to publication of this report--Bernice K. Bennett, Jennie M. Kraus, Doretta H. Popka, and Ruth A. Redstrom. Ellen W. Caswell and Mildred T. Pati provided assistance in matters relating to word processing. Johna L. Pierce provided editorial and production assistance.

During the planning of the survey, special attention was given to the needs of potential users, particularly the Economic Research Service and Food and Nutrition Service of USDA, Food and Drug Administration and Social Security Administration of the Department of Health and Human Services, and other Federal agencies.

The study was carried out under the general direction of Robert L. Rizek, Director of the Consumer Nutrition Center, Human Nutrition Information Service.

HIGHLIGHTS

The money value of food used by housekeeping households in the United States averaged $61 in a week during the spring of 1977. Of this amount, $46 was the value of food used at home and over $14 was the expense for meals and snacks eaten away from home. Most of the food used at home was bought, except for $3 worth received without direct expense, which was mainly home-produced. Meals eaten away from home accounted for $11 and snacks for $3.

The average household size was 2.78 in terms of 21-meal-at-home-equivalent persons (See "Definitions and Explanations"), making the per-person average for food in a week as follows:

All food	$21.91
Money value of food used at home..	16.71
Bought	15.59
Received without direct expense (home-produced and/or received as gift or pay)	1.12
Expense for meals and snacks eaten away from home	5.21

These figures include the money value of alcoholic beverages and items commonly thought of as food. They do not include cigarettes, soaps, and other nonfood items purchased in grocery stores. Food received without direct expense was valued at the average price per pound paid for comparable food by survey households in the same region.

All households used some bought food for home consumption during the survey week. Home-produced food was used by 32 percent of the households. Food received as gift or pay was used by 41 percent.

Bought meals or between-meal snacks in restaurants and other eating establishments were reported by 77 percent of the households during the week. The average cost of eating out came to $14.49 for the week. Meals as guests or in payment of work were reported by 39 percent of the households.

Averages conceal the great variation among households. For example, the average money value of food used at home in a week by households in the United States was $16.71 per person. But for 22 percent of the households, the value of a week's food was less than $12 per person and for 31 percent, $20 or more per person.

Households allocated the largest share of their home food dollar, 36 cents, to meat, poultry, fish, and eggs. The next largest share, 19 cents, went for vegetables and fruit, including juices. About 12 cents out of each dollar went for milk and milk products other than butter; 11 cents for flour, cereals, and bakery products; another 11 cents for beverages such as coffee, tea, soft drinks, punches, ades, beverage powders, and alcoholic beverages; and 6 cents was divided evenly between fats and sweets. The remaining 5 cents was used for other foods.

The average consumption of food at home per person per day (as brought into the household) was as follows: 2-1/4 cups of milk or its equivalent in milk products (in terms of calcium content); over 1-1/2 ounces of fats, oils, and salad dressing; about 3 ounces of flour and cereal products; about 2-1/2 slices of bread; nearly 2 ounces of other bakery products; 11 ounces of meat, poultry, fish; about one small egg; 2 ounces of sugar and other sweets; 3 ounces of potatoes and sweetpotatoes; about 1-1/4 pounds of vegetables and fruit, including juices; plus varying amounts of beverages, nuts, soup, mixtures, and condiments.

Differences by Urbanization

Money value of food used in a week by suburban households averaged $68, which was more than that for households in either the central city ($58) or nonmetropolitan areas ($55). Values for suburbanites of both food used at home and away from home were higher than for those living either in central city or nonmetropolitan areas. Expense for food eaten away from home in a week was 1-1/2 times as great for suburban ($18) as for nonmetropolitan households ($12).

On a per-person basis, the money value of home food averaged about $17 in suburban and central city households and $15 in nonmetropolitan households. Expenditures for food away from home ranged from $4 for nonmetropolitan households to $6 for suburban households.

Food used at home in nonmetropolitan households accounted for 79 percent of the total money value of food compared with about 75 percent in the other urbanizations. Of the expense for food eaten away from home, snacks accounted for 22 percent in nonmetropolitan households, 18 percent in suburban, and 26 percent in central city.

Home-produced food accounted for 8 percent of the money value of food at home in nonmetropolitan households. Suburban and central city households used relatively little home-produced food, 3 and 1 percent, respectively.

Generally, the share of the home food dollar that went to various food groups was similar for the three urbanization classes, as shown by the following percentages:

Food group	Central city	Suburban	Nonmetro- politan
Meat, poultry, fish, eggs.	38	36	35
Vegetables, fruit.....	19	18	19
Milk, cream, cheese.....	11	12	12
Grain products.....	11	11	11
Beverages.....	11	12	11
Other.....	10	11	12
Total.....	100	100	100

For the meat, poultry, fish, and egg category, however, central city households allotted a slightly higher percentage of their food dollar than did households in other urbanizations.

Quantities of food used varied by urbanization. Suburban households consumed larger average quantities of each of the major food groups than did households in other urbanizations. Suburban households were larger, however, averaging 2.94 persons compared with 2.52 persons in central city households and 2.83 persons in nonmetropolitan areas. On a per-person basis, central city households used more meat, poultry, and fish as well as vegetables and fruit, including juices, than other areas. Nonmetropolitan households used the most flour, cereals, fats, and sugar--ingredients needed for home baking.

Differences by Income

Households at successively higher income levels were larger and used food at home with a higher money value. Households with incomes of $20,000 and over averaged 3.21 persons and used food at home worth $60; households with incomes under $5,000 averaged 1.91 persons and used food at home worth $30. On a per-person basis, high-income households ($20,000 and over) used food at home worth $18.70 compared with $15.87 used by those of low income (under $5,000). The money value of home food per person for the low-income category was similar to the values for the next two higher income categories ($5,000-$9,999 and $10,000-$14,999).

Use of home-produced food was less common for low-income than for other households. About 23 percent of the low-income households and about 33 percent of the other income groups reported using home-produced food during the survey week. Home-produced food, however, accounted for 4 percent of the money value of home food in the low-income households and 3 percent in the high-income households.

Compared with money value of food at home, expense for food away from home increased more sharply with income. Households with incomes of $20,000 and over spent $25 for food away--five times the amount spent by households with incomes under $5,000. About 92 percent of high-income households reported expense for food away from home compared with 50 percent of low-income households.

Food at home accounted for a smaller percentage of total money value of food at higher income levels--from 86 percent for households with incomes under $5,000 to 71 percent for households with $20,000 and over. Households in the lowest income level spent fewer dollars for snacks away from home than did those in the highest level. But these snacks of low-income households accounted for 30 percent of the expense for food away from home compared with snacks of high-income households that accounted for 17 percent.

On a per-person basis, household use of milk and milk products, of bakery products, and of beverages increased with successively higher income. In contrast, use of flour and cereals and of eggs decreased as shown by the following quantities per person in a week:

Food group	Income (1976) before taxes
	Under $5,000	$10,000- $14,999	$20,000 and over

Higher income households used about the same amounts as those with lower incomes of fats and oils; meat, poultry, and fish; potatoes and sweetpotatoes.

Food Consumption Comparison between 1965 and 1977 Surveys

A nationwide food consumption survey similar to the spring 1977 survey was conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in the spring of 1965. The average household size in 21-meal-equivalent persons decreased from 3.29 to 2.78 between the two surveys.

Average money value of all food per person for U.S. housekeeping households increased from $10.64 in 1965 to $21.91 in 1977. Average money value of food used at home increased from $8.79 to $16.71, an increase of 90 percent between the two surveys. During the same period, prices for food at home rose approximately 100 percent, as measured by the Consumer Price Index (CPI). The money value for some food items increased substantially more and others less than 100 percent. The difference in the money value between the two periods apparently reflected the rise in food prices and changes in the kinds and the amounts of foods used by households.

Food used at home accounted for 83 percent of the money value for all food in the spring of 1965 and 76 percent in the spring of 1977. Food consumed away from home, including meals and snacks, increased from 17 percent to 24 percent of the total money value of food.

The share of the home food dollar accounted for by various food categories was similar in the two surveys, as shown by the following percentages:

Food group	1965	1977
Meat, poultry, fish, eggs.....	36	36

Milk, cream, cheese.....	13	12
Grain products.....	12	11
Beverages.....	10	11
Other.....	10	11
Total.....	100	100

The proportions of the food dollar allotted to milk and milk products and to grain products decreased slightly, and the proportion for beverages, such as soft drinks, punches, ades, and beverage powders, increased from 1965 to 1977.

Quantities of household foods used in a week decreased for all major food groups between the two surveys. Differences reflect in part the fact that average household size in 1977 was only 84 percent of the size in 1965. Consumption of some foods--meat, poultry, and fish; vegetables and fruit; and mixtures--decreased less than household size. On a per-person basis, use of those foods increased. Consumption of some other groups--bakery products, sugar and sweets, and potatoes and sweetpotatoes--decreased substantially more than household size, or per-person consumption decreased for these, as shown by the following:

Food group	Quantity per household in a week		1977 as percent of 1965

Consumption within certain food groups changed between the two surveys. Both the quantity and variety of fresh fruit and vegetables increased. Consumption of fruit and vegetable juices also increased. Yogurt, nuts, and honey became more popular.

Some of the changes in food consumption may reflect a concern about caloric intake. Consumption per person of whole milk dropped 30 percent, although fluid skim and lowfat milk rose 341 percent--principally because of the increase in lowfat milk. Decrease in the use of fats and oils, bakery products, flour and cereals, sugar and sweets also may have been an attempt to reduce caloric intake. Soft drink consumption, however, increased from 23 fluid ounces per person per week in 1965 to 31 fluid ounces in 1977. Use of alcoholic beverages increased from 10 fluid ounces per person to 14 fluid ounces.

INTRODUCTION

This report presents data for spring 1977 from the household portion of the Nationwide Food Consumption Survey 1977-78 (NFCS) conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) during April 1977 through March 1978. The study is part of USDA's continuing research program on human food and nutrition that was started at the turn of the century. Through the years, the Department has contributed much to the knowledge of American food habits by collecting information about the kinds and quantities of food people eat as well as the money value of that food. Dietary levels of different groups within the population are also determined from calculated estimates of the nutrient content of the food reported and recommended nutrient levels. Objectives of the USDA food consumption surveys have been expanded to serve new and diverse needs for information relating to consumers and the food they eat.

- Congress, the Department of Agriculture, and other Federal agencies use these data to develop and administer public programs and policies that relate to production, marketing, and consumption of food.
- Research and development laboratories, food manufacturers, and food industries use these data to adjust the producing, processing, and marketing of food closer to the needs and wants of consumers.

- Nutritionists, home economists, educators, and welfare workers use these data to assess the current nutritive value of diets of the population and to develop guidelines and programs for improving dietary levels in the United States.

Thus, the nationwide food consumption surveys are benchmarks to measure the current status of the U.S. diet and the changes that have occurred since the previous survey. Data provided by the recent survey may be used in evaluating public policies and economic, social, educational, and regulatory programs associated with people and the foods they eat.

The early fledgling studies were small-scale, intensive investigations and sometimes involved only a few respondents. Since the 1930's, however, the Department has conducted six food consumption surveys on a national scale: 1936, 1942, 1948 (urban only), 1955, 1965-66, and 1977-78. Only the 1965-66 and 1977-78 surveys included all four seasons of the year and provided information on diets of selected individuals within the household as well as on food consumption of the total household.

In the NFCS 1977-78, a stratified probability sample of households was surveyed from April 1977 through March 1978. Households were selected to represent the universe of households in each of four Census regions and three urbanizations during each of the four seasons. The information was collected from about 15,000 households in the 48 conterminous States and about 34,000 individuals from these households. In addition, 5 supplemental surveys yielded information for about 5,000 households in which at least 1 member was older than 64 years of age, about 4,700 households with members participating or eligible to participate in the Food Stamp Program, 3,100 households in Puerto Rico, 1,100 urban households in Alaska, and 1,250 households in Hawaii. All of these supplemental surveys provide data on household food consumption and individual food intake.

The data on food used in a surveyed household were collected in an interview with the person identified as most responsible for food planning and preparation. Trained interviewers, who used an aided-recall questionnaire, recorded the kind (such as ground beef and skim milk), the form (such as fresh, commercially canned, or frozen), the quantity, and the cost, if purchased, of each food or beverage used in the household during the 7 days before to the interview. Respondents also gave information on home food production and preservation, the number of meals eaten at home and away by household members, and meals and snacks eaten by guests. For use in classification, respondents provided other data, such as income, participation in food programs, age, education, and employment of the male and female head of household.

The methodology used to obtain household food consumption in the NFCS 1977-78 was the same as that used in the 1965-66 survey with few exceptions. In 1965-66, the households were interviewed at the initial contact, but in 1977-78, households were contacted at least 7 days prior to the interview and asked to keep grocery receipts, shopping lists, menus, package labels, or other aids to help them recall the food used in the 7-day period. Both surveys measure food consumption at the level at which the foods come into the kitchen. Thus, the data should be interpreted as consumption in an economic rather than a physiological context.

TABLE NOTES

The following notes are for tables 2-24. They provide the type of information usually found at the end of individual tables. "General Notes" contain information and explanations applicable to all or most tables. "Specific Notes" refer to a particular table, group of columns, or single column of a table.

General Notes

1. Average quantity and money value per household and percentage of households are based on all households in the cell. See table 1 for cell counts.
2. Component items may not cross-add to totals because of rounding.
3. The asterisk (*) indicates some but less than 0.005 pound, 0.005 dollar, or 0.05 percent.
4. See table 3 for food group totals for tables 4-22.
5. Homemade mixtures on hand at the beginning of the 7-day period if used during the survey week are included in prepared form rather than as ingredients. Data for all other foods are as they were brought into the kitchen. See "Definitions and Explanations," Food at Home.
6. Food from Meals on Wheels and similar programs that provide food in the home are included in tables 3-22.
7. Commercially canned food includes baby food. See table 23 for separate data on baby food.
8. Food substitutes are included in the group of foods they replace.
9. Lists of foods in the "Specific Notes" are not necessarily all-inclusive.
10. Mention of a trade name does not constitute an endorsement of the product by the U.S. Department of Agriculture over other products not mentioned.

COMPARISON WITH 1965-66 HOUSEHOLD FOOD CONSUMPTION SURVEY

Although methods used in the Nationwide Food Consumption Survey 1977-78 were generally the same as those used in the 1965-66 Household Food Consumption Survey, some changes were made that might affect comparability:

- Households received advance notice of the interview for the 1977-78 survey and were asked to keep notes on food used for the 7-day period preceding the interview. In 1965-66, households were interviewed at the time of initial contact.
- Households were offered a nonmonetary incentive for participating in the 1977-78 survey. None was offered in the earlier survey.
- In 1977-78, data were collected from all households. In the earlier survey, data were collected from "housekeeping" households only (households in which 1 person had 10 or more meals at home). Data in this report are for "housekeeping" households only.
- In 1977-78, households from which data were collected in the spring (3,473) comprised about one-fourth of the total survey of housekeeping households for the year; in 1965-66, spring accounted for about one-half (6,174).
- Separate data on the quantity of donated food received and on the percentage of households participating in the Food Distribution Program were not obtained in 1977-78, since food distribution to families had been almost completely discontinued. This information was requested and tabulated in 1965-66.

--In 1977-78, data on seasonings purchased during the week were collected but not tabulated. In 1965-66, those data were both collected and tabulated.

--Income data for 1977-78 included the income of all household members age 14 and older (except roomers, boarders, and employees). In 1965-66, income data included only all related persons living in the household whom the respondent considered as part of the family's financial matters.

--In 1977-78, specific income data were collected. In 1965-66, respondents indicated which 1 of 14 income classes corresponded most closely to their family's income after taxes.

Schedule Modification

The 1977-78 schedule followed essentially the same format as the schedule used in 1965-66. Respondents, however, were asked more detailed questions on the social and economic characteristics of the household in 1977-78. They also were asked a few additional questions related to food consumption. Information about the following additional factors was collected in 1977-78:

- Education and employment of the male head of the household and occupation of both the male and female household heads.
- Amount of the last month's income from specified sources for each household member age 14 and older (except roomers, boarders, and employees) and the amount of last year's income both before and after taxes.

Data Tabulation

--The 1977-78 data are classified by the 1976 or 1977 income before taxes. The 1965-66 data were classified by the 1964 or 1965 money income after taxes.

--The 1977-78 urbanization categories are central city, suburban, and nonmetropolitan. Definitions are based on the size of the place in which the residence was located and for metropolitan households, the location within a standard metropolitan statistical area (SMSA). In 1965-66, urbanization categories used for tabulating data were urban, rural nonfarm, and rural farm. Definitions were based on the size of place in which the dwelling was located and the presence of a farm operator for rural households.

Description of the Sample

Information for the Nationwide Food Consumption Survey 1977-78 was collected from 14,930 households of 1 or more members. The households were from a statistically selected sample of all private households in the 48 conterminous States, stratified by region, urbanization, and geographic or demographic similarities. Excluded from these reports are about 6 percent, or 900 households that were not housekeeping--no member ate 10 or more meals from the household food supply during the 7 days preceding the interview.

Design

This survey was designed as a self-weighting, multi-stage, stratified area sample of 15,000 households in the conterminous States. During each quarter, 3,750 households were to be sampled by use of an interpenetrating design (spring quarter was implemented in April, May, and June 1977; summer in July, August, and September; fall in October, November, and December; and winter in January, February, and March 1978). The sampling frame was organized by use of the 1970 Census of Population and Housing.

Stratification

The 48 conterminous States were divided into 114 strata on the basis of 3 levels of stratifications--geographic division, urbanization or zone, and demographic or other geographic similarities. Each of the nine Census geographic divisions that comprise the four Census regions (see tabulation) was divided into the three Census zones defined below:

Zone I (Central city)--the area comprised of the central city or cities (a city named in the metropolitan area title) in standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA);

Zone II (Suburban)--the area in SMSA's outside Zone I;

Zone III (Nonmetropolitan)--any area not included in Zones I and II.

Then, the two levels of division and zone were grouped at the third level based on cities or other political entities, economic trading areas, geographic units, and/or by size. This procedure resulted in 114 homogeneous strata of approximately 600,000 households each. The distribution of these strata by Census geographic divisions and zones is shown below:

Census region and division	Number of strata			Division

Primary Sampling Units

Every stratum was divided into one or more primary sampling units (PSU's). Each PSU was formed from cities, parts of cities, or from counties, and contained at least 10,000 housing units. Twelve strata were represented by only one PSU each, and these were picked with certainty.¹ From the other 102 strata, PSU's were drawn with probabilities proportional to size.

Selection of Area Segments within PSU's

Each PSU drawn was divided into small clusters of housing units called "area segments." The segments were designed, based on the 1970 Census, to contain 100 or more housing units and usually consisted of 1 or more city blocks in urban areas and part of a Census Enumeration District elsewhere. From the PSU's, 2,550 segments were drawn; the number of segments in a PSU was proportional to the size of the stratum in which the PSU was located. The probability that an individual segment would be drawn from a PSU was proportional to the ratio of the number of housing units in the segment to the total number of units in the PSU.

Prelisting of Area Segments

All 2,550 area segments were prelisted to determine the number of occupied housing units. Then, the national increase in the number of housing units from 1970 to 1977 was estimated. This information, together with estimates of occupancy and completion rates, permitted calculation of sampling ratios for the area segments that would yield a total of 3,750 households per quarter.

Selection of Sample Housing Units

For the first two quarters, an average sampling ratio of 2.3 households per segment was used. The housing units were ordered within their respective segments. For each quarter, a sample was systematically selected from each segment, without replacement, after a random start. By the end of the second quarter, the estimated completion rate had been adjusted, and an average sampling ratio of 2.86 households per segment was used for the last two quarters. With the above adjustments, the target of responses from 15,000 households was closely approximated during the year-long survey period.

Weights

Although this survey was designed to be self-weighting, it was determined after the survey ended that the completion rates for the various PSU's differed at a statistically significant level. Therefore, weighting factors were applied to data from completed schedules. The weights were calculated for each quarter for every PSU. The weights were designed to be proportional to the ratio of the expected number of completed schedules in a PSU to the collected number of completed schedules in a PSU; weights were scaled so that there would be 3,740 completed schedules per quarter. After weighting was completed, a few household schedules had to be discarded because of invalid or incomplete data. The following tabulation gives the weighted and unweighted household counts by season, including nonhousekeeping households:

MEAN VALUES AND STANDARD ERRORS OF FOOD GROUPS AND SELECTED ITEMS

The average (mean) values in this report are based on data for households from the sample and hence may differ somewhat from the figures that would have been obtained if data had been taken from all U.S. households by use of the same questionnaire, interviewer, and coder. Sample surveys are subject to two types of errors--nonsampling and sampling.

Nonsampling errors can be attributed to many sources: Inability to obtain information about all cases; definitional difficulties; differences in interpretation of the question; inability or unwillingness of the respondents to provide correct information; errors in recording or coding the data; and other errors of collection, response, processing, coverage, and estimation of missing information. Because of the number of possible sources of error, measurement of the total nonsampling error is very difficult.

Although the respondents in this survey were asked to give the prices of the food items that were originally bought, the prices for those items reported as home-produced and as gift or pay were not asked. Instead, the money value of these food items received without direct expense by a household was based on the average (mean) price per pound paid for comparable food by surveyed households in the same region. Imputations of this sort may have contributed further to non-sampling error.

Sampling errors occur by chance because a sample rather than the entire population was surveyed. The standard error estimates the precision with which a mean value from a sample approximates the difference between the sample data and the data that would have been obtained from the entire population. Furthermore, the standard error partially reflects the variation in the estimates from some nonsampling errors, but it does not measure per se, any systematic biases in the data. In effect, standard error measures sampling and random nonsampling errors. The sample estimates and their estimated errors enable one to construct confidence intervals or ranges that would include the average result of all possible samples with a known probability. The procedure, as illustrated below, provides a method to construct interval estimates so that a known proportion of the intervals would contain the average of all possible samples. For example, if all possible samples were selected, each of these was surveyed under essentially the same general conditions, and an estimate and its estimated standard error were calculated from each sample, then:

1. Approximately 68 percent of the intervals from 1 standard error below the estimate to 1 standard error above the estimate would include the average result of all possible samples.

2. Approximately 90 percent of the intervals from 1.6 standard errors below the estimate to 1.6 standard errors above the estimate would include the average result of all possible samples.
3. Approximately 95 percent of the intervals from 2 standard errors below the estimate to 2 standard errors above the estimate would include the average result of all possible samples.

The average result of all possible samples either is or is not contained in any particular computed interval. For a particular sample, however, the average result of all possible samples is included, with specific confidence, in the constructed interval. For example, the mean money value per household for the meat group was $12.31 during the surveyed period and its corresponding standard error was $0.30. This means that the 68-percent confidence interval around $12.31 is from $12.01 to $12.61. It can, therefore, be asserted at a 68-percent level of confidence that the sample mean of $12.31 will differ by less than plus or minus $0.30 from the mean from a complete population. At a 95-percent level of confidence, it will differ by less than plus or minus $0.60.

DEFINITIONS AND EXPLANATIONS

All Urbanizations

Includes all households in central city, suburban, and nonmetropolitan areas. See "Urbanization."

Bought Food - See "Source of Food."

Calcium Equivalent

The quantity of whole fluid milk to which the various dairy products (excluding butter) and nondairy products containing milk derivatives are equivalent in calcium content. The chief source of data on the calcium content of the various dairy products was "Composition of Foods: Dairy and Egg Products; Raw, Processed, Prepared," U.S. Department of Agriculture, Agriculture Handbook No. 8-1, November 1976.

Central City - See "Urbanization."

Eggs: Fresh Equivalent

The quantity of fresh eggs plus frozen, dried, or liquid eggs without shell (whether the whole egg, whites, or yolks only), and of cooked eggs or substitutes converted to the weight of equivalent eggs in shell. The source of most factors was "Conversion Factors and Weights and Measures for Agricultural Commodities and Their Products," U.S. Department of Agriculture, Statistical Bulletin No. 362, June 1965.

Food at Home

Food and beverages (alcoholic and nonalcoholic) from the household food supplies "used" during the 7 days before the date of the survey interview, whether bought or received without direct expense. This included food and beverages eaten at home, carried from the home in packed meals, thrown away, or fed to pets. Food fed to animals raised for commercial purposes and commercial "pet" food were omitted. Food that was obtained with cash, credit, or food stamps, and food that was home-produced, received as a gift or payment for goods and services, or received through Federal assistance programs or from welfare agencies was included.

Any food from the respondent's household that was given away for use outside the home, such as food sent to friends and relatives, gifts of food donated to church suppers, and food given to household help to take home, was not considered as food used by the household.

Food used at home was classified as fresh, commercially canned or frozen, home-canned or -frozen, already cooked, and dried. Generally, food used at home was reported in the form brought into the kitchen.

Homemade mixtures used during the week were reported either as ingredients if prepared during the week or as the product, if prepared before the survey week. For example, a homemade cake prepared any time within the survey week was included with quantities of flour, eggs, sugar, fat, and milk. But a homemade mixture used during, but prepared before, the survey week was recorded in the name of the product in the same way as a commercially prepared mixture was recorded. To illustrate, a cake that was prepared at home on any day before the survey week, or a bakery cake that was brought from the store into the kitchen, was entered on the schedule as a ready-to-eat cake.

If home-canned or home-frozen vegetables and fruit and home-preserved jelly, jam, pickles, or relish were processed before the survey week, they were also recorded in the same way as commercially prepared mixtures. However, when the canned, frozen, or preserved food was made at home during the 7-day period, only the ingredients of the portion used during that period were recorded.

Regardless of the time of preparation, homemade butter, cheese, cream, and buttermilk were always reported as the products rather than as ingredients.

Food at Home Not Bought

Food used at home that was home-produced or received as a gift or instead of pay. See "Source of Food."

Food Away From Home

Any food and beverages (alcoholic and nonalcoholic) in meals and snacks purchased by the household for themselves and their guests away from home during the week. The expense for such food and beverages included sales tax and tips. Food eaten by the household in other homes or elsewhere as guests or employees for which no household expense was involved was not included in expense for food away from home. See "Food Away From Home Not Bought."

Food Away From Home Not Bought

The number of meals with no expense to the household, that is, meals eaten by household members in other homes or elsewhere as guests or employees.

Home-Produced Food - See "Source of Food."

Household

A household consists of all the persons who occupy a house, an apartment, or other group of rooms, or a room that constitutes a housing unit. The survey does not cover group quarters, such as rooming houses, military barracks, and institutions.

Housekeeping Households

Those households with at least 1 person having 10 or more meals from the household food supply during 7 days before the interview. Data for nonhousekeeping households were collected but are not presented here.

Household Size

The total number of meals served to all persons in the household from home food supplies divided by 21 (based on 3 meals a day for 7 days for 1 person) to obtain the household size in equivalent persons. When meals reported eaten at home and away from home did not add to 21 meals for each person, the skipped meals were distributed as bought, free, and from household food supplies in the same proportion as the reported meals. The count of equivalent persons was not reduced in those households where members omitted meals nor was it increased for refreshments between meals. However, the meals served to guests, boarders, and employees were included.

Lunches carried from home, but supplemented by other food purchased, received as gift, or received instead of pay, were counted as one-half meal at home and one-half meal from one of the other sources; lunches supplemented only by beverages were counted as full meals at home.

Refreshments served to guests were also counted in the total meals from household food supplies, but were not given the same value as a full meal. Servings of a single food or two (for example, a glass of milk or a cup of coffee and a doughnut) were considered light refreshments and counted as one-fourth meal for each guest. More than two refreshment items served at one time, such as ice cream, cake, and coffee, were counted as one-half meal for each guest. Any refreshments served to persons who were part of the household were not counted unless they substituted for a regular meal.

Money Income Before Taxes

Respondent's estimate of the household's 1976 money income from all sources before the deduction of State and Federal income taxes. Income was counted for all persons living in the household except for roomers, boarders, and employees whether or not they ate at home during the week.

Money Value of Food Used at Home

Expenditures for bought food and money value of home-produced food and food received free of cost that was used during the survey week. Expenditures for bought food were based on prices reported as paid regardless of the time of purchase. Sales tax was excluded. Bought food with unreported prices, food produced at home, and food received as a gift or instead of pay were valued at the average price per pound paid for comparable food by survey households in the same region and season.

Nonmetropolitan - See "Urbanization."

Not Classified by Income

Households that were not household units for the previous year and households in which respondents were either unable or unwilling to give information about income.

Person

One equivalent person equals 21 meals at home in a week. Average quantities and money value of food used per person by groups of households are per 21-meal-at-home-equivalent person. See "Household Size."

Region

Those areas of the 48 conterminous States as defined by the U.S. Department of Commerce for the 1970 Census of Population. The four Census regions and their States are:

Northeast--Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont;

North Central--Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Wisconsin;

South--Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia;

West--Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming.

Source of Food

Classification of food used as bought, home-produced, or received as gift or instead of pay.

Bought--Food received for cash, on credit, or with Federal food coupons such as food stamps and WIC vouchers.

Home-produced--Food raised for home use and food obtained by hunting, fishing, and gathering from the wild.

Received as gift or pay--Food received as gift from persons outside the household or as payment for services rendered.

Spring - The months of April, May, and June.

Suburban - See "Urbanization."

Survey Week

The continuous 7-day period before the survey interview during which the reported food was used. An interview that occurred on Monday morning after breakfast, for example, covered the period from Monday morning a week earlier after breakfast to the interview time.

Urbanization

Distinction of households in central city, suburban, and nonmetropolitan was based on the standard metropolitan statistical area (SMSA) as defined by the U.S. Department of Commerce in the 1970 Census of Population.

All urbanizations--Composite of central city, suburban, and nonmetropolitan households appropriately weighted.

Central city--Population of 50,000 or more and main or core city within SMSA.

Suburban--Generally within the boundaries of SMSA but not within legal limits of central city SMSA.

Nonmetropolitan--All U.S. areas not within SMSA.
