

Please provide a 1-3 sentence description of your organization.

American Seed Trade Association (ASTA) is a national trade association representing all facets of the American seed industry from organic, to conventional, to biotech seeds. Our members are deeply interested in the research and development of varieties that will help meet the demands on American agriculture at the food, feed, fiber and fuel levels.